B. Foster's co-operation. The results of the first study of the series have lately been published in a preliminary communication by Foster: Proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, 1909, vi, p. 61. This dissertation contains data that will be included, for the most part, in a paper on certain effects of deficient oxidation, to be published from this laboratory by Ditman and Welker, and which will appear in the New York Medical Journal on or about May 15, 1909. It is Dr. Gies' intention to continue the study of the influence of various dietary conditions on physiological resistance.
